

Wednesday 23rd September

Good morning!

Hope you had a lovely day yesterday. These are your lessons for today. Please do your best!

Each day, there will be a daily blog on the class page of the website with everything you need for your learning.

English

Please log in to Purple Mash to find your set '2Dos'. Your task is to read the next and final chapter in 'The Ferocious Cake Off!' Yesterday, you read Chapter 4 so you are now up to the last chapter, Chapter 5, which set to read. After you have read the chapter, answer the quiz questions. Your English activity to follow is a book review set on Purple Mash. What did you think of the story and characters? Are there any parts you think that could be improved? Would you recommend it to a friend?

SPaG (Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar)

Please log in to Purple Mash where you will find a '2Do' set to practise this week's spellings. Additionally, you have another '2Do' based on choosing the correct phoneme sounds.

Reading

Please continue to read daily and fill in your reading diary as usual. Don't forget you can answer one of the comprehension based questions that are stuck in the front of your reading diary.

Maths

Please follow the link to the White Rose video (<https://vimeo.com/454675288>). Today, you will be looking at applying your mental work by finding 1, 10 or 100 more or less than given numbers. Work through the video and complete the attached sheet called 'Wednesday Maths' found on today's blog page. Afterwards, you can log in to MyMaths where a further activity to consolidate the number line learning can be found.

Please also log into Times Table Rockstars to practise your times tables.

Afternoon subjects- Computing and Geography

On a Wednesday afternoon, you would normally have your computing lesson.

Today, we are going to combine your geography work based on your England fact file yesterday with making an online quiz. Set on Purple Mash is a '2Quiz 2do'. Read and follow the information on the screen to discover how to create your own quiz. Then, using your knowledge from yesterday, form your questions and select a range of question types to input your data. Try to create at least 6 questions in your quiz about England. Once you are back in class, we will try your quiz out on the rest of Year 3 to test what they know about England!

Wednesday 23rd September

I look forward to seeing your quiz creations!

Please keep yourselves safe and keep smiling!

See you soon.
